ABSTRACT

This study is one of the investigative efforts for the quality of the internet business reporting, particularly for 212 Malaysian Public Listed Companies (PLCs). As one of the developing countries, Malaysian listed companies need to emphasize and concentrate more into providing useful information and accountable internet reporting to investors and potential investors. The current study investigated based on Internet Business Reporting Quality (IBRQ) Indexes and the Inverter Rating Best Practices Guidelines (April 2013). In future, the results are useful for investors in order to improve the internet business reporting by improving the content and presentation.

INTRODUCTION

Internet has been one of the communication mediums to distribute information for financial and non-financial shareholders and stakeholders. The information will benefit both parties which regularly use for decision making purposes with high quality of presentation and usefulness of content that has been provided by the companies. Currently, there is no mandatory requirement in Malaysia for communicating financial and non-financial information through the internet or the World Wide Web (WWW) of Public Listed Companies (PLCs) as mentioned in Khan and Ismail (2011) where the PLCs companies only required by Bursa Malaysia Listing Requirement to develop their own website since August 2009. Most probably the situation to develop a corporate website with useful content and good presentation because of the existing benefits by previous adopters and it can be seen from previous researchers.
